

Print Bookmark Request this item

The Reflective Practitioner: How Professionals think in Action

Author: Schon, Donald A.

Publication Year: 1991

Item available on request

Request this item

Contents

Preface

Part I: Professional knowledge and reflection-in-action

1. The crisis of confidence in professional knowledge
2. From technical rationality to reflection-in-action

Part II - Professional contexts for reflection-in-action

3. Design as a selective conversation with the situation
4. Psychotherapy: The patient as a universe of one
5. The structure of reflection-in-action
6. Reflective practice in the science-based professions
7. Town planning: Limits to reflection-in-action
8. The art of managing: Reflection-in-action
9. Patterns and limits of reflection-in-action Across the professions

Part III - Conclusion

10. Implications for the professions and their place in society

Notes

Index

Format

Print

estate management, educational management, general practice management, facilities management, financial management, health

Keywords service financial management, health service management, health service managers, health service personnel management, health services mismanagement

Publisher Ashgate Arena

Classification general practice management

ISBN 1857423194

Pages 374

Categories: Books