

Print Bookmark Request this item

Limits to Medicine - Medical Nemesis: The Expropriation of the Health

Author: Illich, Ivan

Publication Year: 1976

Item available on request

Request this item

Contents

Author's Note

Introduction

Part I. The Clinical Iatrogenesis

1. Epidemics of Modern Medicine

Doctor's effectiveness - an illusion

Useless medical treatment

Doctor-inflicted injuries

Defenceless position

Part II. Social Iatrogenesis

2. Medicalization of life

Political transmission of iatrogenic

Social iatrogenesis

Medical monopoly

Value-free cure?

The medicalization of the budget

The pharmaceutical invasion

Diagnostic imperialism

Preventive stigma

Terminal ceremonies

Black magic

Patient majorities

Part III. Cultural Iatrogenesis

Introduction

3. The killing of pain

4. The Invention and Elimination of disease

5. Death against death

Death as commodity

The devotional dance of the dead

The danse macabre

Dourageois death

Clinical death

Trade union claims to a natural death

Death under intensive care

Part IV. The politics of health

6. Specific counterproductivity

Marginal disutilities

Commodities vs. Use values

Modernization of poverty

7. Political Countermeasures

Consumer Protection for addicts

Equal access to torts

Public control over the profession mafia

The scientific organization - of life

Engineering a plastic womb

8. The recovery of health

Industrialized nemesis

From Inherited Myth to Respectful procedure

The right to health

Health as a virtue

Subject index

Index of names

Format        Print

Keywords    public health, development, drugs, medicine

Publisher    Penguin Books

Classification medicine

ISBN 0140220097

Pages 296

Categories: Books