

UCD School of Nursing,
Midwifery and Health Systems

ARE YOU INTERESTED IN IMPROVING EDUCATION & TRAINING AVAILABLE TO GPs , GP TRAINEES AND PRACTICE NURSES?
IF SO, WE WANT TO HEAR FROM YOU!

Breastfeeding Knowledge, Attitudes and Practices of General Practitioners, General Practitioner trainees and General Practice Nurses in Ireland

A national study has commenced to explore the breastfeeding knowledge, attitudes and practices among General Practitioners, General Practitioner Trainees and General Practice Nurses. This information will inform future national developments in infant feeding education and training programmes and support breastfeeding initiation and duration in Ireland.

To participate in the study you will be asked to complete a short online questionnaire. A link to the online survey has been circulated via email or scan the QR code below.

The study is being conducted by the UCD School of Nursing, Midwifery and Health Systems, the Irish College of General Practitioners in collaboration with the Health Service Executive.

Please scan QR code or click here to access the survey

Study Co- Leads:

Denise McGuinness:
denise.mcguinness@ucd.ie & Niamh
Vickers: niamh.vickers@ucd.ie
Sarah Brennan
sarah.s.brennan@universityofgalway.ie